

A REPORT ON THE ACTIVITIES OF THE CALIFORNIA MARITIME ACADEMY FOUNDATION 2008-2009

The 2008-09 fiscal year proved to be the most productive in the history of the CMA Foundation. The Foundation, the charitable division of the Academy, recorded more than $1.5 million in charitable cash gifts. Donors sent gifts to fund endowments for scholarships, to create a new 'School of Policy and Management', for athletics, faculty support and a wide array of other school programs. This success was achieved despite a world wide economic environment that is the worst in modern memory.

Our success is due to the commitment of our cadets and faculty to a curriculum that demands commitment and hard work. That commitment, in turn, inspires the men and women who volunteer their time on the Cal Maritime Foundation Board of Directors to donate and encourage others to donate.

There are three highlights that need special recognition. The first is the gift of $3 million to be paid over five years from ABS (see page 3) to create the new ABS School of Policy and Management. This new program will equip our students for positions in management after their sea-going time is over. ABS has committed an additional $100,000 each year for scholarships.

The second highlight is the continuing generosity of Capt. Robert McAllister '42. With his most recent gift of $200,000 he has now exceeded $1 million in lifetime giving, and has promised an additional gift as a bequest in his estate.

Our third highlight was the continuing success of our annual Gala and the CMA Alumni Foundation Golf Tournament. The Gala netted more than $140,000 for scholarships and other programs, and was judged by all to be a 'great party.' The annual Golf Tournament brought in $40,000 for scholarships. We send our thanks to the men and women who volunteered to make these events a success.

The CMA Foundation is charged with raising money for scholarships, for faculty programs and all of the other activities on campus. The Academy depends on the generosity of everyone who has benefited from being part of the CMA family. On behalf of the men and women of the Foundation, I would like to thank all of you for your generosity and your continuing support in the year ahead.

Thomas C. Dunworth, Executive Director
The California Maritime Academy Foundation

The California Maritime Academy Foundation Report of Charitable Giving July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2009

The California Maritime Academy's success is due, in large part, to the generous financial support we have received from alumni, parents, friends, foundations, organizations and corporations. It is with great pleasure that we present the Report of Charitable Giving for The California Maritime Academy Foundation. We would like to thank all of those listed in this report for their loyalty and commitment to Cal Maritime.

President's Circle

The President's Circle was formed in the spring of 2000 to help provide a continued source of unrestricted support to help the president answer Cal Maritime's unexpected needs. Members of the President's Circle are alumni, parents, friends, and business and community leaders who form a circle of support for the Academy.

Cal Maritime Financial Aid Director Ken Walsh and Financial Aid Counselor Deborah Dance have front row seats when it comes to viewing the impact of the current downturn in the global economy on cadets and their parents worried about getting enough financial aid to stay in school.

“Approximately three-quarters of our students receive some form of financial aid,” Walsh says. “Some of it comes as federal and state grants and loans. Private funding also plays a critical role.

“Last year our federal grants to students approached $900,000. State support was nearly $650,000. Loans topped $5,000,000. Today, with the economic downturn, the need is stronger than ever. Parents are losing jobs or working reduced hours, limiting their ability to pay for their child’s education and qualify for loans. The federal government has increased the size of grants and the limits on federal education loan amounts, but we worry about the volume of debt parents and students will have to pay off after graduation. California’s budget crisis has led to questions about the viability of Cal Grants and it is not certain these will be paid in 2009-10. All this leaves many students wrestling with the academic challenges of higher education, while worrying over whether they or their parents will be able to pay. Many students work on campus or in part-time jobs to help make ends meet.”

Anyone seeking financial aid must fill out a FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) documenting the applicant’s available assets. That information helps determine the amount of aid they qualify for.

Walsh sits on Cal Maritime’s Foundation Scholarship Committee which allocates proceeds from scholarship funds given to the University by private donors. “While we have to make very hard choices about who gets how much, these private dollars often help close the final gap in a student’s aid package and ensure they can stay in school. It’s especially rewarding to us when a student comes back after graduation or sends us a note or an e-mail saying, ‘I couldn’t have gotten my degree without that scholarship. Thank you.’ ‘I tell them, Don’t thank me. Thank the people who gave the money for the scholarship. Maybe you’ll be able to give back in a few years yourself.’ There are always students with need.”

ABS SCHOLARSHIPS

In addition to its major $3 million contribution to aid the expansion of Cal Maritime's Department of Maritime Policy and Management (see page 3), ABS has made a significant increase in its scholarship support for Cal Maritime cadets, pushing its annual giving in this sector from $60,000 to $100,000. These funds greatly expand scholarship opportunities for our students at this time of heightened need. The annual donation is the equivalent of the return from a multi-million dollar endowment.

THE GOLDEN BEAR SOCIETY

2009 Gala Co-Chair Carol Aspland presents a Golden Bear Society pin to Bill Strain (E-50) at the fundraiser event as his daughter Cynthia looks on.

The Golden Bear Society honors alumni and friends who have created perpetual endowments or named the Academy as a beneficiary in their will, living trust or charitable trust. Endowments can support scholarships for cadets or any important school project or program.

Such charitable bequests provide an opportunity to make an important "once in a lifetime" gift to Cal Maritime. Many donors have found there are real financial benefits to their estate in doing so.

Mr. Dick Cochran '50, former President of the CMA Alumni Association, chairs the Golden Bear Society. He and President Eisenhardt honor Golden Bear donors with a gold Golden Bear pin or pendant.

AIO SCHOLARSHIPS

Each year, the Northern California chapter of the Association of Intelligence Officers (AIO) funds two $2,500 scholarships to students interested in a career in intelligence. The Bernard "Buzz" Wellman Scholarship is for sophomore through graduate students attending four-year accredited colleges and universities in Northern California. Given the numerous quality institutions in the region, the competition is understandably intense, but for the second year in a row, a Cal Maritime student came away with one of the coveted awards. Last year, the winner was Jordan Fachko (GSMA '10) and this year, his classmate Garrett Laudenback (also GSMA) was selected. Laudenback said he hopes to pursue a career in Marine Corps Intelligence and this summer attended 10 weeks of Officer Candidate School training. Fachko is interested in homeland security, law enforcement and intelligence and praises the quality of the Global Studies program for helping him prepare for his career and qualify for the AIO award. Fachko also took part last fall in the prestigious Panetta Institute internship program, spending several weeks working as a Congressional intern in Washington, D.C.

SCHOLARSHIP RECOGNITION DINNER

Cal Maritime President Emeritus Jerry Aspland chatted with students at a reception before dinner. He and his wife Carole have long been supporters of the University's programs and served this year as Co-Chairs of the annual Gala Fundraiser (see page 16).

More than 120 people, including Cal Maritime scholarship recipients, donors, faculty and staff, gathered for a Scholarship Dinner this winter in Vallejo. The event was held to honor and pay tribute to scholarship donors and was underwritten in part by Dockside Machine and Ship Repair, Marine Technical Services, APL, Bay Delta Maritime, ABS and Six Flags Discovery Kingdom. Senior cadets addressed the audience to express their appreciation for the support they received.

ANNUAL GALA FUNDRAISER

President Emeritus Jerry Aspland and his wife Carol, Cochairs of the 2009 Gala.

An increasingly important event in the Cal Maritime calendar, both as a social event and a generator of private support for the institution is the Cal Maritime Annual Gala. The 2009 Gala, held Saturday, March 28th at the Marines Memorial in San Francisco, set new records for private giving as over 300 guests engaged in lively bidding on an array of donated gifts ranging from an African safari to tropical vacations, artwork and gourmet dinners. Proceeds from the event help fund scholarships for students and other projects in support of the school's focus on academic excellence.

The 2010 Gala is set for Saturday, March 27 at the Westin St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco.
