Connecting Keelhaulers recently interviewed GSMA alum Ryan Mack who works as an Operational Specialist with Curtin Maritime. Check it out to learn how Ryan solidified his love for the water and sailing and worked to combine that and his GSMA education in work.

Advice Section – Career Fair

The Career Fair is fast approaching, scheduled to take place on March 3rd in PEAC from 0900-1400. This is a great time to network, learn about jobs and/or internships that companies are recruiting for, or just learn more about new companies. There are several things you can be doing now to prep for the event.

As always, doing research on the companies attending when we release the program is paramount. There will be returning companies you might want to refresh on or check out specific opportunities they might be offering, but there will also be new companies who you will want to engage with. Make sure you learn as much as you can about them beforehand, so you are prepared to have intelligent and relevant conversations with them at the event.

The other aspect to making the Career Fair a meaningful event is building confidence in discussing your goals, skills, and interests. This is more challenging than the research portion, as you need to combine self-analysis and actualization, how a company could fit your vision, and adaptability to unscripted conversations. There are multiple ways to prep for this, including personal introspection and practice, discussing with friends and mentors, and meeting with Career Services to role play these conversations. By putting in effort to prep for these upcoming conversations, you can become more comfortable and receive feedback and advice on to how to make these impactful.
