Crowley was founded in 1892, when founder Thomas Crowley — the grandfather of current chairman and CEO Thomas B. Crowley Jr. — purchased an 18-foot Whitehall rowboat to provide transportation of personnel and supplies to and from ships anchored on San Francisco Bay. Expanding geographically and into new lines of business over the years, the company has grown to more than 6,300 employees worldwide with annual revenues of more than $2.5 billion.

Crowley owns, operates and/or manages a fleet of more than 200 vessels, consisting of RO/RO (roll-on-roll-off) vessels, LO/LO (lift-on-lift-off) vessels, articulated tug-barges (ATBs), LNG-powered container/roll-on, roll-off ships (ConRos) and multipurpose tugboats and barges. Land-based facilities and equipment include port terminals, warehouses, tank farms, gas stations, office buildings, trucks, trailers, containers, chassis, cranes and other specialized vehicles.

Diplomatic Security is the federal law enforcement and security bureau of the U.S. Department of State. Tasked with securing diplomacy and protecting the integrity of U.S. travel documents, the Diplomatic Security Service has the largest global reach of any U.S. federal law enforcement agency, with offices in 29 U.S. cities and in more than 270 missions (embassies and consulates) worldwide. The Diplomatic Security Service (DSS) has more than 2,500 special agents, security engineering officers, security technical specialists, and diplomatic couriers working and traveling worldwide.

More broadly, DSS employees are considered Foreign Service Specialists and are highly specialized in areas critical to the support of diplomacy overseas. We hire engineers, electro-mechanical technicians, IT professionals, facility managers, doctors (MD/DO), chief medical providers (FNP/PA), medical laboratory specialists, federal law enforcement special agents, office managers, financial managers, human resources specialists, and general services specialists (contracting, supply, travel, motor pool, housing, logistics, etc.).

Members of the Foreign Service represent the United States on behalf of the American people in the conduct of diplomacy. We are a rank-in-person organization, meaning that qualified U.S. citizens join the Foreign Service as an entity and have a series of assignments, typically two or three years in length each, at home and abroad over the course of their careers.

The U.S. Navy's Military Sealift Command is the premier provider of ocean transportation to the Department of Defense. The Command operates approximately 125 non-combatant, civilian-crewed ships that replenish U.S. Navy ships, conduct specialized missions, strategically preposition combat cargo at sea around the world and move military cargo and supplies used by deployed U.S. forces and coalition partners.

While we do play a critical role in support of our nation's defense, our employees are not active duty members of the military. MSC civil service mariners (CIVMARs), the largest segment of our global workforce, are federal civil service employees.

All CIVMARs are employed by the Navy to serve MSC onboard naval auxiliaries and hybrid-manned warships worldwide, in peace and war. MSC exists to support the joint warfighter across the full spectrum of military operations. MSC provides on-time logistics, strategic sealift, as well as specialized missions anywhere in the world, in contested or uncontested environments.

We recruit transitioning military, merchant marines, maritime academy graduates, and skilled entry-level candidates to fill our maritime job opportunities. The MSC mission is big. So are the rewards for the CIVMARs who help us complete it.

The Port of Stockton, located in California's Central Valley is one of the nation's fastest growing ports. Its unique position at the intersection of waterways, highways and railways has made it a booming center of economic activity and a gateway for imports and exports across the West Coast. The port handled 4.7 million metric tons of cargo in 2018 — everything from steel railroad tracks from Japan to refined sulphur going to Australia.

The Port holds trade relations with over 55 countries. As one of the premier inland bulk cargo ports in California, it offers export, import, distribution and warehousing services for various product firms and retailers.

On any given day at the Port, you might see organic grain coming in from Turkey, soy beans going out to Australia or wind turbines being loaded to power other cities and communities around the world. And of Course we also do business across the US. The Port is proud to call the Central Valley home and is committed to giving back to the community and helping boost the area's job growth. The Port of Stockton was built by Californians and we are California proud.

Graduates of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point and the six state sponsored maritime academies (Massachusetts, Maine, New York, Great Lakes, Texas A&M and California) are excellent officer candidates for the Coast Guard due to their focused training in maritime industry affairs, marine transportation business acumen, vessel management and engineering operations, licenses as U.S. Merchant Marine Officers (deck and engine), as well as environmental stewardship expertise and emergency management certification. The MARGRAD program, therefore, seeks to commission maritime academy graduates into critical service need specialties appropriate to their training and experience. Traditionally, the service needs most commonly filled by maritime academy graduates have been assignments in the prevention mission community. Prevention officers execute the CG's Prevention Program, consisting of maritime safety, security, waterways management and mobility, and environmental stewardship. The Prevention Directorate includes policy experts in waterways management, navigation safety, boating, commercial vessels, ports and facilities, merchant mariner credentialing, vessel documentation, marine casualty investigation, inspection, and port state control. MARGRAD officers have also been assigned to, and successful in, the broad spectrum of Coast Guard mission communities, both afloat and ashore.

Initial Assignment and Initial Training

MARGRADs work with a Coast Guard assignment officer following selection. The assignment officer will review the individual's education, experience and qualifications, in addition to their expressed assignment interests, and assign orders to a position at a Coast Guard field unit that best aligns the selectee's talents & potential with the needs of the Coast Guard. Following commissioning (which occurs approximately 30 days prior to attending the Direct Commission Officer (DCO) course in New London, Connecticut) new officers will execute permanent change of station (PCS) orders and report directly to their first unit for a brief period. MARGRADs will then go TDY to the DCO course. The DCO course will be 4-5 weeks in duration (MARGRAD officers with previous commissioned service who have previously attended a commissioning course will attend a 4 week course, all others will attend a 5 week course). At DCO training, MARGRADs receive initial indoctrination to the traditions and programs of the service, and training on service specific administration essentials needed for their success as a commissioned officer in the Coast Guard. Following completion of DCO training, MARGRADs will return to their unit.

Initial Assignment details: Prevention Community: An initial assignment in the prevention community is typically manifested at a Training Port- typically a Coast Guard Sector, working as an apprentice within the inspection division of the Sector Prevention Department. Several Marine Safety Units are also Training Ports, and may be available for a MARGRAD officer's initial assignment. A MARGRAD officer reporting to the inspections division will focus on obtaining competencies by completing Performance Qualification Standards (PQS) with on the job training, under the supervision of a qualified Journeymen Marine Inspector and through various online and non-resident courses.

Vessel Inspections: Vessel Inspectors ensure regulatory compliance with all aspects of national and international regulations for U. S. and foreign flag commercial vessels operating in U.S. waters. Vessel Inspectors make up the largest population the of Prevention program. Assignment to a Vessel Inspections Division at a Sector is most common for new MARGRAD Prevention officers.

Initial Assignment details: Other Communities: As stated in the "overview" above, MARGRAD officers may receive instead an initial assignment to an afloat unit, sector response, etc.

Career Path

Follow-on assignments may include an additional tour as a Prevention Division Chief in Vessel Inspections, Investigations or Waterways Management, Graduate School, Industry training programs or staff tours at a Coast Guard Area or District, or as a Headquarters program manager. Each assignment brings additional levels of authority, rank, tenure and responsibility. A full career in the Coast Guard's Prevention Program can lead to a senior officer's position as an Officer-In-Charge of Marine Inspection (OCMI), Captain of the Port (COTP), Federal on Scene Coordinator (FOSC) and Federal Maritime Security Coordinator (FMSC), within one of the Sector Commander positions at ports in and outside the continental U.S.

Other positions that may assigned to a second-tour MARGRAD officer, are described below:

Marine Investigations: Marine Investigators investigate marine casualties, mariner misconduct and (un)suitability to hold a Merchant Mariner Credential. Marine Investigators collect the facts of a marine incident/casualty, determine the causal factors of the occurrence and if misconduct, negligence or incompetence is found leading to the occurrence of the casualty. They can then recommend if a civil penalty, or suspension and revocation hearing be held, or if lessons learned can be used to amend vessel safety regulations to prevent casualty recurrence.

Waterways Management: Management of aids to navigation (ATON), safety and security zones, regulated navigation areas, ice breaking, vessel traffic system, port waterways management and the automatic vessel identification system

Western Towboat Co.

617 NW 40th Street

Seattle, WA 98107

www.westerntowboat.com

- Russell Shrewsbury, '06
Vice President / Owner
Russ@westerntowboat.com

Western Towboat started with one small tug the N D TOBEY along Ballard's waterfront in 1948. In the early days, Bob Sr. functioned as business agent, captain, engineer. He brought an intense work ethic to all of these tasks and held himself accountable to the highest standards. Western's tugs then, as now, are maintained more like yachts than work boats. The smart looking tugs with the blue stacks and the yellow and white house are a clear reflection of Bob Sr's personal pride and dedication.

Back then it was a different business era. A man's word was a binding contract; towing jobs were sealed with a handshake; and customer service meant a personal commitment to see the job done right. Bob Sr. offered his customers the best towing service possible... one that could only come from his personal "hands on" approach. Western Towboat has grown to a fleet of 22 tugs and 7 barges since then but its tradition of hands-on commitment continues. Bob Sr. passed his work ethic and sense of pride on to his two sons, Bob Jr. and Ric, and to all of his employees.

As Western approaches 70 years of service she is still a Family business owned and operated by Bob Jr. and his sons Russell, Ross, and daughter Kristin all working together daily. Whether it's at the helm of the Company or on-board one of our tugs the Shrewsbury's continue Bob Sr.'s hands on commitment to the business. Modern equipment, all custom designed and built in WESTERN'S own yard, operated by experienced, hardworking crew offering customers professional, competitive ocean and harbor towing services.
